Frequently Asked Questions

What out of pocket expenses qualify?

Any amounts not covered by your RBC Insurance employer benefits plan qualify. If your employer plan has any deductibles, dispensing fees, co-pays, or caps on your drug coverage the additional savings will be applied to your portion of the bill.

Is there a maximum amount that will be covered and are there limitations?

The maximum amount is subject to a cap of the lesser of $100 or 30% of the total cost of the drug(s). If your plan already provides additional coverage for drugs purchased through Pocketpills the additional coverage will be subject to a cap of the lesser of $100 or 20% of the total cost of the drug(s).

When does the offer through Pocketpills start?

The additional savings through Pocketpills starts on September 1, 2022 (sign up through www.pocketpills.com/rbci) and it will be valid until February 28, 2023.

What happens after February 28, 2023?

After February 28, you will continue to receive an additional 10% coverage as Pocketpills is the preferred pharmacy provider for your benefit plan.

Who is eligible to receive the offer?

All employees and their dependents who are currently enrolled in an RBC Insurance group benefits extended health care plan, and are residing outside of Quebec, are eligible.

What if I am already a Pocketpills member?

If you're already a Pocketpills member, there's no additional work required! The savings will be activated automatically.
