Patricia Anastasio — "Mrs. A"

July 12, 1935–August 29, 2018
Camp Hill High School, 1990–2010

Patricia Anastasio, known to generations as Mrs. A, dedicated over 50 years to the Camp Hill community, first as a volunteer and room-mother, then as supervisor of the High School computer lab, where she mentored countless students. She also taught adult literacy, volunteered at Holy Spirit Hospital, served on a local bank's board, and after retiring, kept teaching computer classes to adults through a Lion Foundation grant.

Beyond the classroom, she was famous for her open-door hospitality — hosting Italian feasts for the Latin class, cooking for sports teams and school dances, and organizing spaghetti dinners and wreath sales to fund the athletic booster club and school activities and trips.

She raised five children and three grandchildren in the CHSD, cheering them through sports and student leadership while holding them, and everyone else at her table, to a standard of excellence and hard work.

Mrs. A passed away in 2018 at the age of 83, but her kindness and sense of civic purpose still live on through the many lives that she touched during her time in the borough. In honor of her life and her commitment to community stewardship, the Lion Foundation is proud to announce Mrs. Patricia Anastasio as the 2026-2027 inductee into the Wall of Honor. Mrs. A's generosity, mentorship, and devotion to Camp Hill's students leaves a lasting legacy as an educator and community pillar.
